5 | IU OFFICE OF SUSTAINABILITY SUMMER INTERNSHIPS
The IU Office of Sustainability (IUSOS) is now accepting applications for its 2013 Summer Internship in Sustainability. The summer internship program will run from mid-May through early August. Interns are expected to work 20 hours/week in addition to attending a 1 credit hour course that meets once a week. Interns will be compensated for their time at a rate of $11/hr for graduate students and $9/hr for undergraduates. The application will ask students to provide information about their education, work, and volunteer experience, as well a personal statement expressing their interest in and qualifications for the internship program. Applicants must also provide a recommendation from a professor or past supervisor. Students interested in applying to the program are encouraged to request a letter of recommendation before the application period begins to ensure it is complete by the deadline (Friday, February 15). For background information about the program, see http://www.indiana.edu/~sustain/Intern/learn_program.html To view the application process or a list of Summer 2013 open positions, visit http://www.indiana.edu/~sustain/Intern/apply.html#info or contact sustain@indiana.edu.

6 | LEADERSHAPe
Saturday, August 17th-23rd, 2013 | Bradford Woods
The LeaderShape Institute is a six-day intensive leadership program to be held August 17th-23rd, 2013 at Bradford Woods. Students attending this event will explore their own leadership skills, engage in discussion on diversity, and meet other student leaders from campus. The event is free for all students. Sign-ups are coming soon, but for more information email: kalgrove@indiana.edu.

7 | U.S. DEPARTMENT OF STATE INTERNSHIP PROGRAM
The U.S. Department of State is now accepting applications for its 2013 Fall Student Internship Program (unpaid). This program offers U.S. citizen undergraduate and graduate students the opportunity to participate in a 10-week, unpaid internships that provide intensive educational and professional experience within the environment of America’s principle foreign affairs agency. The unpaid internships are available at many of the over 265 U.S. embassies, consulates and missions to international organizations around the world, as well as at the Department of State in Washington, D.C. and other locations throughout the U.S. Participants gain first-hand, hands-on experience, and learn the realities of working in – and with – Foreign and Civil Service professionals who are at the forefront of America’s diplomatic efforts. Visit https://state.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/336405300 to apply. Please note that the deadline to submit completed applications is March 1, 2013.

8 | WASHINGTON, D.C. INTERNSHIP FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES
The Youth in Development program (YiD) will bring a small group of talented college students, graduate students, and recent graduates with disabilities to Washington, DC this summer for immersion in the international affairs and development field. Interns will serve for nine weeks in nongovernmental organizations that work within the field, participate in core training and networking activities provided by USICD, and have a unique opportunity to hone their experience and career trajectory. Participating interns will be matched to a host organization and receive a stipend, travel expenses, and fully-accessible housing for the summer of 2013. The program follows from a vision, core to USICD’s mission, to increase disability inclusion in U.S. foreign affairs by supporting future professionals to invest their skills and talents in this field. A successful candidate will have shared in their application their preparation for a career in international development and foreign affairs, their vision of their future, and how a Washington, DC internship will aid their career development. The application deadline is February 18, 2013. If you have any questions, email yid@usicd.org or call 202-347-0102. http://usicd.org/template/page.cfm?id=257
