PACE Announcements

1 WE ARE MOVING NEXT WEEK TO WOODBURN 221!!!
All PACE faculty and staff will relocate to Woodburn 221 early next week. We will send an email to this list letting you know when the move will happen and when we will be unavailable.
It’s a terrific space and we look forward to welcoming you in Woodburn very soon.

2 BECOME A CERTIFIED CIVIC REFLECTION TRAINER
Valparaiso University’s Center for Civic Reflection, in partnership with PACE and IU Student Life and Learning, is offering student leaders the opportunity to become certified civic reflection facilitators by attending a half-day training on Friday, Feb. 26th, from 1-5PM. See http://civicreflection.org/. This training is FREE for students and spots will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis. This is a great opportunity for those that are actively engaged in volunteering, service, or other civic matters (or who plan to do so in the future) to gain the essential leadership skill of facilitating group discussions with their members. Email pace@indiana.edu for more information and to reserve your spot.

4 THE ACCIDENTAL MAYOR: TOMILEA ALLISON
Tue., Dec. 8, 4:00-5:30 p.m.; The Poynter Center, 618 E. Third Street
This Roundtable will feature the new book The Accidental Mayor, a memoir of Tomilea Allison’s thirteen years as Mayor of Bloomington. This engaging narrative offers a rare inside look at the workings of city government under the strong-mayor system and sheds light on the politics and personalities that shaped the growth of our town in a crucial period of its history.

EMERSON NATIONAL HUNGER FELLOWS PROGRAM

The Bill Emerson National Hunger Fellows Program develops effective leaders with a deep understanding of hunger and poverty at both the local and national level that enables them to find innovative solutions and create the political will to end hunger. Each year, 16-20 participants are selected for this year long program. Emerson Fellows are placed for the first six months with community-based organizations all over the country. They gather in Washington, D.C. in August for a comprehensive orientation and field training, where they learn about hunger, poverty and social inequality in the United States, the local and national programs designed to address the issues, and the various approaches to social change. Each host organization identifies specific goals and outcomes for the Fellows and provides the supervision and resources necessary to accomplish them. In mid-February, the Fellows regroup in Washington, D.C. to debrief and share their field experiences and participate in an extensive policy training to learn about national anti-hunger and anti-poverty policy work. Fellows then work in nonprofit organizations and government agencies working on hunger and poverty policies at the national level. During their time in D.C., Fellows complete research, outreach, advocacy, and public education projects that support national policy initiatives.

Fellows receive a living stipend, health insurance, and housing support, and an end of service award. The application deadline for the next class of Fellows is January 13, 2016.
