2. IT’S NOT SO BLACK & WHITE: TALKING RACE, FROM FERGUSON TO BLOOMINGTON
   March 26, 7 p.m.; Alumni Hall, Indiana Memorial Union
   Join us for a campus and community-wide forum that examines the historical roots and current incidences of state-sanctioned violence against black people in America. The event will feature three speakers: Professor Akwasi Owusu-Bempah, Criminal Justice, IU-Bloomington, a specialist on racial profiling, policing, and the War on Drugs; The Hon. Valeri Haughton, Judge of the Circuit Court, 10th Circuit and Presiding Judge, Monroe County Board of Judges; and Professor William Jelani Cobb, History and Director of Africana Studies, University of Connecticut, and journalist for The New Yorker. The session will be moderated by Professor Jeannine Bell, Maurer School of Law, IU-Bloomington and author of Hate Thy Neighbor: Move-in Violence and the Persistence of Racial Segregation in American Housing. The audience will have opportunities to engage the speakers with questions and comments after their presentations in a town-hall style dialogue. Following this, representatives from local and campus organizations will be on hand to distribute information and give attendees the opportunity to get involved in local initiatives working towards the betterment of our community.

11 THE JOHN HAMILTON FOR MAYOR INTERNSHIP PROGRAM
John Hamilton has dedicated his career to serving others having led Indiana’s state agencies dedicated to social services and the environment, founded a major nationally recognized nonprofit devoted to economic justice, and worked to elect dozens of Democratic candidates. As a part of John’s commitment to Bloomington and its residents, the campaign is offering an exciting internship program. The internship will run 10-12 weeks during the primary and over the course of the internship, interns will have the opportunity to learn the ins and outs of a campaign, build a direct relationship with John as you staff him at events, and work behind the scenes on the campaign. Will work to meet academic credit requirements. For more info contact Drew Larabee.
